SATURDAY MORNING, MARCH 24, 1855.

WANTED.
An intelligent boy, of steady habits, to learn the printing business, to whom a good situation will be given; apply at this office immediately.

WHIG STATE AND DISTRICT CONVENTIONS.

A Whig State Convention will be held in Providence, on Wednesday, March 28th, 1855, at 11 o'clock, a. m., to nominate candidates for Governor and general officers for the political year ensuing. The Whig electors in the several towns, and in the cities of Newport and Providence, are requested to elect delegates to the Convention, equal in number to their delegates in both branches of the General Assembly.

EASTERN DISTRICT.—A Whig Convention will be held in Providence, on WEDNESDAY, March 28th inst., at 2 o'clock p. m., to nominate a candidate to represent the Eastern District in the next United States Congress. The Whig electors in the several towns in the District, and in the cities of Newport and Providence, are requested to elect delegates to the Convention, equal in number to their delegates in both branches of the General Assembly.

WESTERN DISTRICT.—A Whig Convention will be held in Providence, on WEDNESDAY, March 28th inst., at 2 o'clock p. m., to nominate a candidate to represent the Western District in the next United States Congress. The Whig electors in the several towns in the District, and in the cities of Newport and Providence, are requested to elect delegates to the Convention, equal in number to their delegates in both branches of the General Assembly.

WM. S. PATTEN, Chairman.

GEORGE W. HALL, Secretary.

Bellvue Hall was densely crowded last evening by an admiring audience to witness the exhibition of the Falls of Niagara, Mammoth Cave, Crystal Palace &c. It was conceded by all to be one of the most superb works of art that have ever visited us and is truthfully represented. The singing by Miss Ella Lee and Mr. Daniel's was very fine and did not fail to elicit rapturous applause. Mr. Daniel's appeared in his temple of enchantment and performed some truly wonderful feats of Legerdemain and we cannot help noticing the witty sayings and side splitting jokes of Mr. Lyman; we can truly say he is the best banjo player we ever heard, and to all our friends we would say go and see it. Tickets only fifteen cents, you can never regret it. Go early and get a good seat.

MR. INGRAHAM'S LIBRARY.—The reputation of the late EDWARD D. INGRAHAM, of the city of Philadelphia as a learned bibliographer and industrious collector, of rare, curious, and valuable books, was known throughout the United States. The intelligence that his extensive library was to be sold at auction, by Messrs. Thomas & Sons has been received in some quarters with profound regret that such a collection should be dispersed, and in all with a lively interest as to the result of the sale, in which every man of letters and every reader of the literary literature is desirous of being a competitor.

Unquestionable Mr. Ingraham's library is upon the whole, the most curious and important that has ever been brought to the hammer in this country. It is extremely rich in bibliography, dramatic literature in biography and history, and in the older, political, statistical, personal, and partisan books, pamphlets, &c. which relate especially to American and to our own public characters.

Those who are acquainted with the habits and tastes of Mr. Ingraham need hardly to be informed that a simple catalogue of his books affords but a very inadequate idea of their actual attractiveness to students and bibliopoles. A large number—probably a considerable majority—of the volumes which had been long in his possession have his own marginal notes, and are illustrated by newspaper cuttings, autographs, portraits, and other engravings, and all the material his constant and shrewd watchfulness enabled him to acquire for their correction, elucidation, or embellishment. On many a work "Ingraham's copy" would save an editor half his labors. Take, for instance, his Franklin; its value to any person prepossessed to review the edition of Sparks or to prepare a new edition would be incalculable. So of fifty others. Whatever was at any time in his possession has a history of its own.

The sale of Mr. Ingraham's library is to be commenced at the rooms of Mr. Thomas & Sons, 67 and 69 South Fourth street, Philadelphia, next Tuesday morning, and will be continued every day and evening until completed.—North American.

Taxing Foreign Capital.—A recent act of the New York Legislature, authorizes the imposition of taxes upon foreign capital invested in any way in that State. A New York paper says that this will operate disastrously for New York city, where a large amount of foreign capital is actively invested, the aggregate being stated at twenty millions of dollars. This is held for and on account of foreign owners in the banks, insurance companies and railroads, and other corporations of the city; and it is supposed that it will be withdrawn if the law is suffered to remain as it has passed the legislature.

THE CHARGE OF LIGHT BRIGADE AT TALAVERA.—From the Boston Daily Advertiser.—The charge of the British cavalry at Balaklava has been described as without precedent or parallel in military annals. It is curious that attention has not been directed to a previous example of similar nature and consequences, occurring in the story of the famous field of Talavera. The facts were these, as narrated by Maxwell and Napier.

A brigade led by Col. Anson, consisting of the 23d Light Dragoons and the 1st King's German Hussars, was ordered to charge and check the advance of a body of French troops. It was gallantly attempted though the charge failed, and the 23d was nearly cut to pieces. According to the version of Napier, "The ground upon which this brigade was in line was perfectly level, nor did any visible obstructions appear between it and the French columns opposed. The ground was long, dry, and waving, concealing the fatal chasm that intervened. One of Gen. Villatte's columns stood at some distance to the right of a building occupied by the light troops. These were directly in front of the 23d dragoons. Another was formed rather to the rear and more in front of the German Hussars, on the left of the line." Such was the immediate objects of the charge.

"For some time the brigade advanced at a rapid pace without receiving any obstruction from the fire of the enemy. It was answered from the hill with the greatest enthusiasm. Never was anything more exhilarating or more beautiful than the commencement of this advance. Several lengths in front, consequently very conspicuous, rode Col. Elley. Thus placed, he of course first arrived at the brink of a ravine, which, varying in width, extended along the whole front of the line. Going half-speed at the time no alternative was left him. To have checked his horse and given timely warning would have been impossible. With some difficulty he cleared it at a bound, and on gaining the opposite bank endeavored by gesture to warn the 23d of the dangerous ground they had to pass; but, advancing with such velocity, the line was on the verge of the stream before his signs could be either understood or attended to. Under any circumstances this must have been a serious occurrence in a cavalry charge; but when it is considered that "four or five hundred dragoons were assailing two divisions of infantry, unbroken and fully prepared for the onset," to have persevered until was rightly honorable to the regiment.

"At this moment the enemy, formed in squares, opened his tremendous fire. A change immediately took place. Horses rolled on the earth; others were seen flying back, dragging their unhorsed riders with them. The German Hussars coolly reined up; the line of the 23d was broken. "Still the regiment galloped forward." The confusion was increased; but no hesitation took place in the individuals of this gallant corps. The survivors rushed forward with, if possible, accelerated speed, passing between the flank of the square, now one blaze of fire, and the building on its left. "Still the remainder of the 23d, led on by Major Ponsonby, passing under this withering fire, assailed and overthrew a regiment of chasseurs, and, though attacked in turn by a squadron of Westphalian horse and some Polish lancers, cut its way through these, and riding past the intervals of the infantry reached the base of the mountain, where the Spanish corps of observation secured it. Its loss was awful. In an affair which lasted but a few minutes nine officers, twelve sergeants, two hundred rank and file, and two hundred and twenty-four horses were rendered 'hors du combat'."

Maxwell remarks: "If there was an error in the mode that charge was made it arose from its fearless gallantry, and, under common circumstances, its results would have been glorious." The very words may be applied by the historian of the campaign in the Crimea to the terrible sacrifice of brave men who rode to certain destruction before the Russian guns at Balaklava.

The Famine at Cape De Verd.—A letter from Captain Fisher, of the barque Osprey, of New Bedford, reports her at Isla de San Jan. 8th, clann. Inhabitants of the island in a state of starvation; supplied them in part with provisions.

The election in Kansas will take place on Friday, the 30th of this month. Gov. Reeder has just issued his proclamation.—The most important points are as follows: "A voter must dwell here at the time of voting his vote. He must then have commenced an actual inhabitation, which he actually intends to continue permanently; and he must have made the Territory his dwelling, to the exclusion of any other home, in case any election is contested, the parties aggrieved must bring the matter before the Governor, who shall determine the case between the parties contesting." The Missourians are dissatisfied with the proclamation, saying that by it the Governor makes himself Legislator, Judge and Executor.

The seat of government of Iowa is to be moved from Iowa City to near Fort Des Moines. Commissioners have been appointed to select the site for public buildings, which are to be erected free of expense to the State.

BY TELEGRAPH.

Baltimore, March 21.
A despatch from Richmond gives us the full details of the explosion at the Midlothian coal pits in Chesterfield. Thirty-four persons were instantly killed, including twenty-eight negroes, six white men; and twelve negroes, and five white persons were so badly burned that but three or four of them can possibly recover.

The pits were considered perfectly safe and free from foul air, but in making a blast an old sinking shaft accidentally crushed, from which poured forth a volume of gas that became ignited.

The explosion caused the earth for miles around to wave and rock like a twig in the wind. Over one hundred white miners were fortunately out of the pit at the time. Every effort was made to rescue those that were alive. Dead men were found with the flesh charred to their bones, holding shovels, picks, and drills in their hands.—The flesh on these still alive is burnt to the bone as if it had been roasted. The pits are seven hundred and seventy feet deep.

Florence, February 15, 1855.
The afflicting intelligence of the death of his royal highness, the young Duke of Genoa, has filled Sardinia with mourning, and all Italy with regret. The recent decease of the two Sardinian Queens, within ten days of each other (the Queen Dowager and Queen Regnant) had made Turin a city of sorrow; and this added calamity overflows with tears the general heart. It was reported yesterday that the King, Victor Emmanuel was himself ill; but the report is believed to be without foundation. Such consecutive mortality in royal family, from natural cause, has scarce ever been known. The Jesuit party call it the judgment of Heaven for late measures of the Liberalists, sanctioned by his Majesty, against the abuses of the Church (through its monkish institutions). The opposite party whisper of poison, and there is doubtless as much truth in one supposition as in the other.

THE NEW TROUBLE WITH CUBA.—The Government organ puts on all its pedals and stops, and plays fortissimo its polemic on the late insult offered to the El Dorado by a Spanish frigate. We have heard this same old tune so often, that we are not at all frightened when the Union talks of going to war with Spain, France and England. Besides, we have great faith in Dodge. Augustus will settle all these matters. He will make a long speech to the Spanish Minister of Foreign Affairs. That respected Castilian will writhle in agony. Dodge will remorselessly continue, until in a frenzy of anguish, the tortured Don will exclaim: "Take Cuba! take all our money! but spare, O, spare us your speeches!"

Seriously, we hope the government really intends to demand reparation for this outrage; but past events give us very small guaranty that it will ever advance beyond mere bravado, of which we have had enough and to spare. The Soule correspondence has exhibited on the part of the Administration an astonishing feebleness, and an utter want of fixed and definite purpose.—It has been governed throughout not by the justice of its demands on Spain, but by the constantly changing tone of political affairs at home. It is worse than folly to talk of war, when no war is intended. It is utter lunacy to talk (as the Union does) of a war "against the combined powers of England, France and Spain." We are constrained, therefore, to believe that the Union is talking merely Buncombe, unless the New Hampshire election has hopelessly disordered its intellects.—Boston Atlas.

Mexico.—The following is the report which the New Orleans Delta gives of SANTA ANNA'S late military achievements:—"Gen. Santa Anna had arrived at Iguala, in the department of Guerrero, a city which is in the very heart of the Alvarez country, where he on the second day after his arrival, had a light with a strong party of the insurgents under Col. Moreno, who recently deserted to Alvarez with his whole force of Mexican soldiers. Moreno was totally routed, in the fight his men were killed and he himself taken prisoner. He was immediately tried by court-martial for treason and sentenced to be shot and before the unfortunate Colonel is perhaps in the land of spirits. The President also met the main body of the army of Alvarez near Chilpancingo, and after a desperate battle, during which the field was strewn with the killed and wounded, forced the insurgents to retire. It is said that Santa Anna has so completely routed the revolutionists that he will immediately return home, and from all accounts he is even now in the capital."

Talks on the New York Railroads.—Gov. Clark has sent in his expected message, advising the reimposition of the tax on freight carried over the railroads that compete with the State canals. The revenue from the canals has fallen off half a million.

Cholera on the Mississippi.—A passenger from New Orleans, lately arrived at Cincinnati, reports nineteen or twenty slaves had died of cholera on the plantation of Mr. Banton, not far from Baton Rouge.

Now is "sugaring time" in Vermont, and the Vermonters are full of work and sport. The amount of sugar annually made in that State is 5,000,000 pounds, worth $650,000.

The Emperor Napoleon's Plans.—Letters from Paris speak of the likelihood of the French Emperor first paying a visit to Vienna and embarking at Trieste for the seat of war.

We have heard it suggested, and this report seems to confirm it, that all Napoleon's preparations are making for a visit, not to the Crimea, but to Berlin; that the allies have abandoned all hope of taking Sevastopol, or at least have concluded that it will cost a great deal more to take the place than it is worth, and that they will march through Prussia, if she consents, and over her if she resists, into Poland.

The Crimean destination, and the rumored opposition of the British cabinet, is deemed merely a ruse to ward off suspicion until the result of the Vienna conference is disclosed. This is a plausible story, and not improbable. What the Emperor could hope to accomplish by going to Sevastopol, at all commensurate with the risks he would take we are unable to conjecture. If he should be defeated there it would cost him his crown while if he succeeded, of which the latest news brought by his own special messenger, Nicol, left little hope, the victory would not be a decisive one, and the end of the war would be as distant apparently as it is now, many have thought more distant.—N. Y. Post.

FORGED DRAFTS.—The New Bedford Standard states that forged drafts to the amount of $30,000 upon merchants of that city have been received within the last two months from Honolulu. Two amounting to $3000, were paid before the fraud was discovered.

MARRIED.
